Benjamin Banneker

Benjamin Banneker was a man of many talents. Complete this puzzle to find out his profession when he served on the commission that laid out Washington, D.C. If you get stuck, use the library or the Internet to help you.

1. U.S. president who practiced the same profession as Banneker
2. Mathematical work to prepare astronomical tables
3. Banneker was this—one who creates new devices or processes
4. Banneker wrote against the practice of this
5. Banneker was this—one who studies phenomena of the natural world
6. State of Banneker's birth
7. City near Banneker's birthplace
8. Banneker was this—an expert in the study of stars and planets

A Secret Signal

Before the Civil War, many enslaved people escaped to freedom on the Underground Railroad. It wasn't a real railroad, but it did have stations and conductors. The conductors were dedicated to abolishing slavery—even risking their own lives and property.

Find a secret signal used on the Underground Railroad to identify safe places to stop and rest by coloring in the letters appearing more than five times.

Harriet Tubman

Harriet Tubman was born into slavery, but she escaped North on the Underground Railroad in 1850. She later returned South to rescue her family and others. All these words had special meaning to Harriet Tubman. Can you find them in the word search?

Martin Luther King, Jr. Day

Read the paragraph below carefully and decode the missing words. The first one is done for you.
